

A large industrial diesel engine, likely a Caterpillar model, shown from a three-quarter front view. The engine is painted in a light beige or tan color and features various mechanical components like a flywheel, belts, and a cooling system. It is set against a dark background.

